"The Most Extravagant."

The following is taken from the New York Globe, a Republican paper: "We have set up the most extravagant government the world has ever known, and year by year we are making it more extravagant. It is unpopular to talk economy—it is held to indicate smallness of mind. Is not this the richest country in the world? Can't we afford to have what we want when we want it? The older generation thought that one of the prime objects of administration was to keep expenditures down; Parties and public men boasted of what is now sneered at as cheese-parings. Now the man who opposes appropriations, instead of gaining popular applause, is likely to find himself considered a narrow-minded old fogey who is out of place in a generous age."

"The administration of President Roosevelt is the most expensive this country has ever known during a time of peace. In every department of the government there has been an increase of distribution—in most cases an increase relatively larger than our increase in wealth and population. The President has been an industrious writer of state papers. He has bombarded Congress with messages general and messages special. He has touched on almost every subject of mundane concern. Yet one looks in vain through the volumes of his writing to discover any more than perfunctory advice to keep expenditures down. He has been an adviser of new appropriations all along the line. No President in our history has shown a smaller development of the economy sense. He has many times shown extreme impatience when it was suggested that while a particular thing might be good, perhaps the government could not afford it. He has enlarged on how mean it was for an opulent country to tighten its purse-strings."

"Explaining by those responsible will do no good. No one will notice the defense that the money went for good objects. The Taft administration may find itself embarrassed as was the second Cleveland administration when the Supreme Court invalidated the income tax. Moreover, the country expects a revision of the tariff next year, and by revision it means smaller duties, will, in all probability, a smaller revenue. This congress is doing what it can to block tariff revision, not merely directly by refusing to act, but indirectly by doing what it can to create a financial condition that will make revision next year extremely difficult. Nor can we ignore the possible injury to business if next year the government is out of funds and is compelled to borrow to meet running expenses. From whatever aspect the matter is viewed the contempt or the budget shown by the present Congress is calculated to arouse apprehension."

CONFIRMED PROOF.

Residents of Paris Cannot Doubt
What Has Been Twice Proven.

In gratitude for complete relief from ache and pains of bad backs—from distressing kidney ills—thousands have publicly recommended Doan's Kidney Pills. Residents of Paris, who so testified years ago now say their cures were permanent. This testimony doubly proves the worth of Doan's Kidney Pills to Paris sufferers.

Mrs. J. W. Huffman, living at 115 N. Main St., Paris, Ky., says: "I gladly confirm the statement I gave in 1905 concerning Doan's Kidney Pills in which I said that I had used this remedy with the most satisfactory results. Now, I wish to further state that they cured me and I have not had any serious troubles for a long time. I was greatly annoyed prior to using this remedy by pains through my back, and across my kidneys, which were so distressing at times that I was hardly able to attend to my household duties. I also had severe headaches and backaches were frequent occurrence. Doan's Kidney Pills banished all these symptoms and I do not hesitate in recommending them to others suffering from similar complaints."

For sale by all dealers. Price 50 cents. Foster-Milburn Co., Buffalo, New York, sole agents for the United States.

Charming Without Beauty.

"It isn't that I am anxious to get married," said the plain young woman, "but I do want to be liked and admired; and I am so homely, I've given up trying to please. I am growing pessimistic and I shall be a sour old maid."

Yet, if she would realize the truth, it is her own power to be attractive despite her lack of a classic nose and a cream and rose complexion. Most women over-estimate the power of personal charm. Many women grow discontented and careless because they are plain of face when they have within them, if it were awakened and developed, a power to attract greater than that given by regular features and lovely complexion. Mr. Henry James asserts that the one essential aim in educating women should be to teach them tact, which is the true secret of the art of pleasing of which every woman should be mistress. Tact may be cultivated to a degree that means the power to influence men and women irresistibly. The basis of tact is knowledge of human nature together with the faculty of putting yourself in another's place. Add to these a gracious manner, a well-modulated voice and a spirit of kindly toleration and you have tact—a possession which may be attained and which is infinitely more to be desired than beauty. —Mary E. Bryan, in Uncle Remus's—the Home Magazine for June.

Woman's Home Companion for July.

The current issue of Woman's Home Companion has a Fourth of July cover by James Montgomery Flagg which is attracting a deal of attention. This is a Fourth of July number, with many bright stories not at all too heavy for mid-summer reading. "The Runaway," "Dea Amaylis," "The Garden of Forgotten Kings," "Sowing Seeds in Danny," give some idea of their titles—and the stories themselves are just as charming as the titles indicate.

Hon. Everett Hale makes a strong plea for Americans to travel in America and visit at least a few of the wonderful places that exist in our country, which most of us have never seen. Mrs. Sangster writes on the American Woman and the simple life, asserting that they are getting too far apart. "People Who Shop," told by one behind the counter, will make every woman who reads it much more considerate of the poor shop girl from whom she buys her laces and silks and ribbons.

The so-called "Emmanuel Movement," which was started in Emmanuel Church, Boston, has been so successful that it is being taken up by the churches in other cities.

The Rev. Dr. Robert MacDonald, a Brooklyn pastor who has adopted the Emmanuel method of treating this church nervous and other kindred diseases, tells just what the Emanuel Movement is and what it hopes to accomplish.

Mrs. Anna Steele Richardson explains what a "welfare secretary" does in a big department store, showing how much help the right sort of woman can be to the hundreds of girl clerks who labor day in and day out behind the counter.

The mid-summer fashions are described and illustrated by Grace Margaret Gould, and Fannie Merritt Farmer, America's greatest teacher of cookery, tells how to get satisfactory meals when far away from market.

There are other good things, too, that will interest many women of many tastes.

Why They Do It.

Why do men advertise? It is because they believe that they have goods that they can sell so as to save money. Knowing this themselves they want you to know it, hence they advertise. The man who don't advertise may have bargains but the chances are that he hasn't. The non-advertiser usually expects to make enormous profits on what little he sells. The advertiser reaches out to get a big number of customers and is willing to sell for a small profit. Advertisers don't spend their money as charity toward newspapers. It is because they are seeking to add daily to their list of customers.

He Got What He Needed.

"Nine years ago it looked as if my time had come," says Mr. C. Farthing, of Mill Creek, Ind. Ter. "I was so run down that life hung on a very slender thread. It was then my druggist recommended Electric Bitters. I bought a bottle and I got what I needed—strength. I had one foot in the grave but Electric Bitters put it back on the turf again." Sold under guarantee at Oberdorfer's drug store. 50 cents. June

LIVE STOCK AND CROP NOTES

—Late crop reports indicate that there will be one hundred million bushels more wheat raised this year than last.

—W. J. Loughridge, of Lexington, president of the American Hemp Co., is quoted as authority for the statement that there will be only one-half a crop of hemp this year.

—Chas. A. Peters delivered to Mark Hendrix Tuesday morning 93 hogs weighing 17,840 pounds, at 5 cents. —Flemingsburg Times Democrat.

—George A. Peed, of Owingsville, has purchased in that county about 100,000 pounds of the 1907 crop of "pooled" tobacco at from 10 to 11 cents a pound. This figure is much lower than the tobacco is worth according to Equity grading. The tobacco will be kept in the pool by Mr. Peed.

—Allen Adams, former resident of Minneapolis, Minn., has discovered in Idaho a new kind of wheat that yields 225 bushels to the acre. The stalks are eight or ten feet high and the kernels twice as large as ordinary wheat, just as the farmer desires to sow.

—The value of property affected by the passage of the New York racing bills is $81,000,000 and the number of employees who will lose out is said to be 40,000. The annual financial loss to people other than breeders will reach $26,000,000.

—The hog has again demonstrated his usefulness to the world in general. Col. John Durrett's fine farm near Midway, which last week was a rolling, tumbling mass of army worms, is as clean as a whistle today, and a drove of fat hogs are the beneficiaries. Col. Durrett turned them into the field with the gratifying result that not an army worm remains.

—If the American Tobacco Company owned the present holdings of the Burley pool, and a drought had curtailed the present crop as the Society has cruited it, independent manufacturers would be paying a dollar a pound for tobacco instead of an average of 15 cents, if, indeed, they could get it at any price. Frequently tobacco has gone to a higher level on a drought scare, but never before while it was in the hands of the growers.

—Potatoes and tomatoes show a large increased acreage, but on account of the season have been late in being planted. It is the opinion of many gardeners that potato bugs are worse than ever this year. They have not confined their operations to potato vines, but has begun on tomato plants. A few years back the potato bugs did not seem to bother tomatoes, but now they attack other vegetation and garden truck besides potatoes.

—In a statement given out in New York James B. Haggin announces that he will sell out the stock on the Elmdorf farm and will turn his attention to breeding fine cattle and cultivating his land. This decision is caused by the passage of the Hart-Agnew bills. When asked what he thought of what the effect would be on the breeding of thoroughbreds, Mr. Haggin replied: "One effect will be that I will cease to breed horses. I have $1,000,000 worth of fine breeding stock now, and will sell it all as soon as I can. I have 150 yearlings on hand now and they are worth and would bring $1,000 each under ordinary circumstances, but since the passing of this law I doubt whether they will bring $250 each. There will be no profit in the business."
